

Mark Hermundstad

Mark Hermundstad practices law in Grand Junction. His undergraduate degree is from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, and he received his law degree from the University of Colorado in 1980. He was a shareholder in the law firm of Williams, Turner & Holmes, P.C. for over 36 years until his retirement from the firm at the end of 2016. Mark's practice with Williams, Turner & Holmes concentrated on water rights and real estate matters in Western Colorado, where his clients included ranchers, businesses and energy companies, local government entities, irrigation organizations, and individual landowners. After his retirement from Williams, Turner & Holmes, Mark was retained as in-house general counsel by Ute Water Conservancy District, a position he currently holds.
